

Committed to fostering deep and long-standing relationships with our clients, our attorneys in the General Corporate group provide legal counsel with an understanding of the industries in which our clients conduct business, as well as the particular needs and objectives of the client. Calfee's corporate attorneys seek practical, creative and cost-effective solutions to some of the most complex legal issues facing today's business leaders. With more than 25 different practice groups and over 200 professionals to serve our clients, Calfee's General Corporate group benefits from the resources of a large, regional firm capable of drawing upon the expertise of our related practices. Many of our corporate attorneys regularly interface with our professionals practicing in Mergers & Acquisitions, Securities, Tax, Antitrust, and Commercial Business and Finance. Our diverse group of attorneys proactively services a variety of public and private businesses, investors and entrepreneurs.

Whether your business is a new venture in the early stages of organization and capital formation, or a well-established enterprise facing corporate succession planning, complex contract negotiations, or a large merger or acquisition, we guide clients through the numerous legal hurdles in order to reach their business objectives. Coupling the technical expertise with business judgment accumulated through years of experience, Calfee attorneys provide clients with innovative yet practical and cost-effective advice.
