Calfee: Decades of Experience Representing High-Tech and Tech-Enabled Clients

Calfee's commitment to the tech sector is nearly unsurpassed among its peer firms in Ohio. We were among the earliest law firms in the region to develop a dedicated IT law practice, which has helped to supplement our continued growth in IT litigation, privacy and data security, intellectual property/patent law, technology transfers, and corporate and finance law, among other areas. Emerging technologies being created and adapted by our clients – from big data analytics to blockchain applications – fuel new business innovations and challenge the legal status quo. With one of the largest patent practices in the Midwest, Calfee's IP group has every technical discipline to help protect and grow our clients' businesses.

Our clients look to Calfee to help them identify and optimize new opportunities in the tech sector while mitigating legal and business risks. Having spent decades building relationships across the state, Calfee is well-connected to economic and workforce development networks in Ohio. Our clients can seamlessly tap into Calfee's existing networks to accelerate business growth. In addition to numerous statewide, regional, and municipal chambers of commerce and business accelerators, Calfee has significant relationships with key organizations helping to propel economic development in the state, including JobsOhio and InnovateOhio.
